

AMW was founded in 1987 by Abou Hamda & Emam to establish the industry of cutlery in Egypt. The project started with the assistance of Japanese technology and machines and developed in a very short time, producing different models and items covering most of the Egyptian market. Within two years we had built our own workshop to enable us to provide our own molds and spare parts.

On these solid bases the company grew rapidly to become no. 1 in the production of cutlery in all of Africa and the Middle East introducing new items such as, kitchen knives, kitchen utensils, trays, and serving dishes.
